

Mikael Lundgren

Mikael Lundgren is Senior Lecturer; Department of Organisation and Entrepreneurship, Linnaeus University, Sweden.

His research focuses on organization, leadership, strategy-as-practice, the phenomena of boundaries and boundary work within organising and leading. His research is primarily done through qualitative methodology and part of my research is devoted towards development of qualitative methodologies.

Selected publications:

- Lundgren, M., Jansson, H. (2016). Developing international business knowledge through an appreciative inquiry learning network: Proposing a methodology for collaborative research. International Business Review. 25. 346-355.
- Lundgren, M., Blom, M. (2016). Textual objects and strategizing : the influence of documents as active objects on strategic recursiveness. Journal of Change Management. 16. 223-244.
- Blom, M., Lundgren, M. (2013). Strategy consultants doing strategy: How status and visibility affect strategizing. African Journal of Business Management. 7. 1144-1160.